Symposium Overview

This activity is designed to provide otolaryngologists with an in-depth exploration of current and emerging concepts in head and neck surgery. The program will cover a wide range of topics including advancements in surgical techniques, innovative technologies, and novel treatment modalities. Participants will have the opportunity to gain insights into cutting-edge research, evidence-based practices, and interdisciplinary approaches to managing complex head and neck conditions. Through interactive lectures and case discussions, learners will enhance their knowledge, skills, and clinical decision-making abilities, ultimately improving patient care and outcomes in the rapidly evolving field of head and neck surgery.

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Recognize the clinical features, diagnostic criteria and evidence-based management strategies for salivary gland disorders, premalignant lesions in the oral cavity, and squamous cell carcinoma.
- Explore controversies surrounding the management of extranodal extension-positive head and neck cancer and analyze the latest research findings and consensus guidelines to navigate these controversies effectively.
- Critique the emerging data on HPV-specific liquid biopsies and their utility as diagnostic tests for HPV-associated oropharyngeal squamous cell carcinoma.
- Review advancements in robotic instrumentation and techniques, indications and contraindications, and patient selection criteria for robotic head and neck surgery.

Accreditation

In support of improving patient care, Rutgers Biomedical and Health Sciences is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

Physicians: Rutgers Biomedical and Health Sciences designates this live activity for a maximum of 4 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Advanced Practice Nurses, Nurses and Physician

Associates: AANP, ANCC and NCCPA accepts certificates of participation for educational activities approved for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™ from organizations accredited by ACCME.

In order to meet the learning objectives and receive continuing education credits, participants are expected to register for the symposium, check in at the registration desk, attend the program and complete an online evaluation form at the conclusion of the program. A CE certificate will be emailed to participants upon completion of the online evaluation.
